Analysis of Manifestos

Full copies of manifestos are now available on website!

ECO Stars

The party's manifesto was promising but it could be improved. Even though Eco Stars have great ideas to improve the environment, we feel they need to explain their pledges more articulately. They have good propositions to work with the Councils and team up with Extinction Rebellion to make the world a safer place.

The Terrific Triangles

The Terrific Triangles global policy is more focused on our school although this is the case they have explained their points well and given the information needed. This party wide variety of foci for their promises, for example: Mental health, Knife crime and Climate change.

Promising Passionate Pentagons

In the pentagons manifesto they use strong ideas, but short point that don't extend the explanation. This does not make their concepts any less passionate. They have decided one of their pledges will be focused on autistic children but we believe that the kids in our school already have enough respect for autism.

MCF

Rather than writing in short points the MCF have fully explained their propositions.

We don't understand the purpose of Eco-Bricks, however the idea of recycling unrecyclable plastic is inspiring. The MCF have a range of ideas but seem based around world pollution.

Circle Of Hope

This candidate addresses the matter very clearly and has good points, while explaining her party will to carry out her pledges. Although her ideas may seem unique they relate very closely to her rivals. Instead of having wide variety of ideas she relates them even if the points may be different. By Sonny Dhaliwal and Annie Oxley.

Spilling the Beans!

Exclusive interviews with Roz Wilson and Dudley White

Q1 Which party do you think is the least likely to win?

The purple party because I haven't seen their manifesto on any of their posters.

Q2 If you were in a party, which party would you like to be in?

The triangle party because I really like what they're doing.

Q3 If you were a party leader what would be your biggest focus?

Plastic bottles because they're everywhere:
In the sea, in the streets.

Q4 who would you like to win?

Once again the triangle party.

Q5 Out of 10 how would you rate this year's candidates?

Q1 What concerns do you have regarding this year's campaigns?

Frankly, they're all talking about the environment but they're all wasting paper by putting up posters

Q2 Out of 10 how would you rate this year's candidates?

7.5

Q3 If you were in a party, which party would you like to be in?

I wouldn't like to say—they all have strengths.

Trump Visits the UK!

How did the controversial president's trip go down with everyone?

On Monday 3rd of June 2019 Donald Trump came to the UK for a three day state visit. A state visit is a formal trip to the UK by a head of state and is normally at the invitation of the Queen, who acts on advice from the government.

Some of the reasons why Donald Trump visited the UK were :

For the D-Day ceremony

To visit Queen Elizabeth and to see what is going on with BREXIT.

Due to his volatile nature and inability to be an upstanding role model. Many people across the UK and the world protested about his visit. Here are some of the opinions of those who love and hate him:

Donald Trump is like a 20th century fascist!

Donald Trump wants Brexit to happen. He is a true friend to Britain.

But the real question is...

IS HE GOOD FOR DEMOCRACY?

Spotlight: Greta Thunberg

Just who is this hugely popular young climate activist?

Who?

Greta (born 3rd January 2003) is a 16year-old activist from Sweden who has started an international youth movement against climate change. She also has a form of autism which she says helps her to “Think outside the box.”

What?

Three main things she does are strikes, protests and speeches in which she educates people about what is truly happening to our world.

How?

She continued to attract people’s attention by voicing the problem at the U.N climate talks in Poland last December. She has also led to many school children around the world striking which is hopefully gaining the government’s support in trying to save this world! She is working hard to save this world and is one of the more likeable political figures compared to Donald Trump or Vladimir Putin.

At Millfields how can we help the world?

- * Print less paper worksheets and mainly use scrap paper if possible
- * Ask for smaller portions at lunch so there is less waste
- * Bring more plants into classrooms
- * Use less plastic products in everyday life

Let’s help our world like Greta Thunberg whilst we still can!

One Party used 50 sheets of non scrap paper!!!

"One candidate has been caught trying to peek into the press room."

We believe that one party has been drawing on the other side of posters done by their competitors!

"Our own year 6 leader has declared her support for a certain pparty."

"One environmentally based party claimed that they were using scrap paper, but in all honesty has not..."

"Apparently a candidate has made one of their friends write their own speech for the Raleigh."
