Millfields Holding Out for A Hero!

This week we have been thinking and learning more about how to stay safe when crossing the street and when scooting or cycling on the roads, as part of Road Safety week and the school's ongoing support for the initiatives 'Walk to School' and 'Safer Streets' scheme. Hopefully you will have seen via the email link we sent earlier this week that Millfields was part of the BBC Newsround report on National Road Safety week. Thank you to Vicky, our eco-champions and road safety officers who worked on the film and interviews that were shown. The final piece was cut shorter than our original report so we will put the longer version up on the school website. This way, all those involved that did not make the final cut, can be celebrated and congratulated on their roles.

Today the whole school community dressed up as Road Safety Super Heroes and dazzled in their bright and luminous colours, and brilliant cloaks and masks. Thank you to children, staff and the community for all your support!

It has been a busy week for parents and staff this week as we welcomed parents and carers to the Parent consultation meetings on Wednesday. This year, our termly questionnaire where we ask for feedback and constructive ideas for moving the school forward and supporting the children, was sent via email and there is a link on the school website. Thank you to those who have already completed it, but please be reminded that the survey closes at the end of today. Please make sure you have your voice heard and have a look now. We will let you know the headlines in the coming weeks and will do our best to respond to any comments or issues that you have raised.

Thank you to the parents who came to eat lunch with their children in Year 3 this week. You should have noticed that our menu is changing as we are working with the 'Chefs in schools' programme to diversify choice and introduce new dishes to the children. We will be looking at all classes taking part in cooking lessons with our catering team over the school year. Thank you also to the parents who came to the Y5 and Y6 Spelling workshop – the feedback suggests that you found it very useful. And today we have lots of you visiting the maths lessons on Y1, Y2, Y3 and Y4. The final sessions for these year groups for this term are next Friday – please sign up at the main reception as there are limited spaces. Thank you also to Bond and Lovelace classes for their class sharing assemblies that took place this morning. Please note that these assemblies now start at 9am.

Finally a huge thank you to the parents who have been opening the book fair every morning and evening over the last week! Even though it has been very cold, you have still been there selling books to help the school! Thank you Emily for organising everyone!

Finally, there will be lots of exciting events happening over the next few weeks, so please look out for confirmation of all the dates and times via all of the school communication channels – website, text, marvellous me or email.

Have a good weekend. Best Wishes, Jane.
