Bug Busting and Chicks in Millfields Nursery

We are already at the end of another week! The school has continued to buzz with excitement around Shakespeare, and the role play, cartoon strips and writing that every class and every child has produced this week, has been brilliant! The children have been so engaged and so keen to share their work and their recounts of the play that their class is reading. Some of my favourite pieces of work this week included cartoon strips of Julius Caesar in Y3 classes, writing alternative endings to Romeo and Juliet in Lovelace Class and role play of The Tempest in Tarrant Class. I was also lucky enough to watch the Lowry Class version of 'The Tempest'. The children had learnt their words really well and spoke very clearly and loud enough for us all to hear! Well done Y1! Lovelace Class also entertained parents and carers in their assembly by re-enacting 'Romeo and Juliet', and Curie Class shared their work on space and the planets. Thank you to all the children and staff in all these classes.

Another reminder that school is closed on Monday and Tuesday next week. School is open as usual on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. On Friday 6th May, we will be having our Millfields celebration to mark the Queen's Platinum Jubilee. This day, all of the children will be doing a couple of activities about the Queen's life and time on the throne, and this will culminate in a celebration event in the playground. We will be having a whole school special picnic. We are asking everyone to dress for a celebration on that day. I have also sent a request for help from parents/carers - if there are any entertainers or artists that could support us to entertain the children that day. If you could run a dance workshop, a hula hoop session, balloon-sculpture, disco or karaoke, circus skills or anything else, please contact me directly. Whatever our/your personal views on the monarchy, this occasion is an important historic landmark as Queen Elizabeth is Britain's longest reigning monarch. See more on this website about the national celebrations.

A massive 'thank you' to all the families who continue to help stock our Food Bank weekly. This service is well used by an increasing number of our families, so all your donations are really, really appreciated. If you are out shopping this weekend - please consider buying a few extra items, we need eggs, shower gel, toothpaste, toilet paper, lentils, biscuits, cereals, bread and fresh fruit and vegetables. Many thanks. The children looked so smart today in their clean and tidy school uniforms (not that they don't always!), ready for their class photos! I love these photos and they serve as a really lovely memento of your child's school days. There will be more information about how to buy the photo in the next few weeks.

Finally, please make a note of the Summer Fair date - Saturday 25th June. Look out for more information in the next few weeks. Also, another exciting event to put in your diaries now is 'Millfields Dog Show' - Saturday 17th September. Take care, keep well and stay safe. Have a lovely long weekend. Jane

Coraly in Reception chose these two snail pots as her objects for our Millfields & Me school Mosaic. She said "the way they nestle so close together feels like belonging to her". Please get your child to bring in their object and leave it with their class teacher as soon as you can. Don't forget this object will be cemented into our Mosaic becoming a permanent fixture of our school legacy of inclusivity, celebrating the richness and diversity of our school community.
