Democrazy Days

FREE!

HARD AT WORK !

All across the school, candidates, mentors, party members and spin doctors have been beavering away furiously, determined to ensure their party is triumphant at the end of the week! This afternoon, party members have been creating posters and banners; a reminder that each party is limited to 10 posters so they will need to choose wisely! Furthermore, in the spirit of fairness, we have been asked to convey the message: please don't rip any rival party's posters!

Democracy Week: Tuesday in Pictures!

An exclusive interview with the Triumphant Triangles party leader Alahna.

Q1: How do you plan to differentiate yourselves from other parties?

"I know that lots of parties want to do lots of vegan things but I am mainly going to decrease our carbon footprint."

Q2: What are your main goals?

"I want to get tons of things done whilst being able to do my homework and schoolwork."

Q3: How confident are you?

"Confidence wise I'm a 10/10."

Q4: Who is your main competition?

"The greens and the reds."

Manifesto teaser:

Alahna said that the triangles' manifesto will be based around students' voices and making pupils' visions possible, maybe involving the school council. The manifesto will reportedly have a strong ecological theme flowing

An exclusive interview with the Red Rights party leader Grace.

Q1: Why should people vote for you?

“I think my ideas are very inclusive and my aims have been discussed by many other students.”

Q2: Which team do you think is your biggest rival?

“Currently the Green Geckos.”

Q3: How confident do you feel talking to the whole school?

“I'm pretty confident if I get time to write my speech.”

Written by Frankie, Gabriel & Hamza

Q4: Why did you want to become the party leader?

“Because I feel if I became party leader I would have a much easier time getting my ideas heard.”

Manifesto teaser:

This manifesto principally revolves around new introductions, which in the opinion of Grace is vote winning ingenuity. This embraces a big end of year trip (voted on by pupils), new basketball pitch and an afternoon snack routine to help pupils go through the day without weariness.

An exclusive interview with the Universal Green party leader Aine.

Q1: Why should people vote for you?

“Because I will listen to their ideas.”

Q2: How would you react to becoming prime minister?

“Happy because when I became counsellor I was very happy so being prime minister would make me more happy.”

Q3: What would you like to change the most?

“I would like to change more flavour in the bagels”

Written by Frankie, Gabriel & Hamza

Q4: What are some of your most important pledges?

I promise if I become prime minister I would listen to everyone's ideas.

Manifesto teaser:

The general vibe of the Green's manifesto runs with kindness. Aine stands for more sports days to go with an inclusive feel and wants more children to join in with activities. Comparably with other parties the stars like the idea of additional bagel flavours.

An exclusive interview with the Blue Justice leader Tafari.

Q1: Were you surprised when you got elected as party leader?

"Yes, I was surprised because there was lots of good competition!"

Q2: What would you like to change the most?

"Promote anti-bullying projects and enforce stricter rules."

Q3: Which team do you think is your biggest rival/s?

"The Triumphant Triangles and the Red Rights."

Written by Frankie, Gabriel & Hamza

Q4: How confident are you about talking to the whole school?

"On the confidence scale I am a 9/10."

Q5: Why did you want to become party leader?

"Because the school and community are my top priorities."

EXCLUSIVE

Manifesto Teaser:

According to Tafari the manifesto hugely emphasises anti-bullying promotion and school wellbeing improvement with a massive kindness theme tagging along with most of his goals.

An exclusive interview with the Persuasive Purple Pentagons party leader Billie.

Q1: What are your main priorities to change?

“The toilets, school dinners, the education and the playground.”

Q2: Did you think you would be the leader?

“No I did not!”

Q3: Who is the person you love to work with?

“A year 4 girl but I'm happy with my deputy”

Q4: Why should people vote for you?

“Because I am very talented, skilled and I've wanted this job for years.”

Politics in focus: Boris Johnson, Genius or Jester!

Left: Pictured with Narendra Modi, Prime minister of India

Without doubt, few politicians are as divisive as the incumbent Prime minister, who is also the current leader of the Conservative party, Boris Johnson.

Alexander Boris De Pfeffel Johnson, who was born on 19 June 1964, is a British politician and currently the prime minister. Prior to this role, he has held positions such as foreign secretary, mayor of London and even editor of the Spectator magazine!

Some citizens believe that Boris is a good prime minister; they believe his determination to get BREXIT done a sign of strong leadership. Furthermore, he is often appreciated for his charisma and approachable demeanor which puts people at ease. On the other hand, others disagree towards this statement. They cite his perceived poor leadership during the COVID pandemic where Britain tragically recorded the worst death rate in Europe whilst he was being fined for breaking the very rules he asked the rest of the population to uphold. For example, no parties or big gatherings, which in this case he broke!" a woman exclaimed.

What do you think—will Boris Johnson be remembered as a great leader who led us through a time of huge crisis and change or as an untrustworthy politician who broke his own rule?

BREAKING NEWS

Apparently, Great Green Geckos are now know as Universal Green!!

More on this story tomorrow!

The Red squares have confessed that their biggest rival is Blue Justice!

Triumphant Triangles have already given their support to the Green Geckos!

Blue justice has announced their greatest foe is Alahna from Triumphant triangles because she is very witty and is also very persuasive!

A member of the orange triangles has been reported for inappropriate behavior, which is extremely ironic considering addressing this concern was one of their main points!

Allegedly, the centre of the pokeman card scandal was someone from Curie class!!!
